

Rachmaninoff Recital

Rachmaninoff, composer and pianist, gave a recital in the Roosevelt School last night before an audience of music lovers which filled the auditorium. The recital was exactly the same as the one which he will give in Carnegie Hall, New York, tomorrow night. The coming of Rachmaninoff to Westfield was through the efforts of Mrs. John J. High, concert director of the Musical Club, and was sponsored by the Musical Club as an added feature of the 1927-1928 season. The recital of Rachmaninoff was considered by those who heard it as one of the best recitals of its kind ever given in Westfield.
