

Rachmaninoff Here For Concert Tonight

Arriving in Portland this morning at 6.35 a. m., Sergei Rachmaninoff, famous Russian pianist-composer, immediately retired to his rooms at the Eastland Hotel in preparation for his first appearance in Maine and the first of his present series of engagements in New England. He came to Portland directly from New York.

Rachmaninoff will play tonight at City Hall as the last of three great artists brought here this season by Aaron Richmond. Music lovers from all parts of Maine will be in attendance at this concert tonight.
