

RACHMANINOFF TOUR RESUMED; WILL PLAY IN AKRON FRIDAY

Sergei Rachmaninoff, world's famous pianist, will appear and give his postponed concert at Goodyear auditorium Friday night. Akron's musical and society folks have been looking forward to this concert with much interest, Mr. Rachmaninoff's appearance in Akron last month having been postponed on account of illness.

Malcolm C. Brock, conductor of the series of concerts, has received word that the artist's health is again such that he can resume his interrupted tour.

Owing to the postponement there are still a few desirable seats available that may be secured at the box office immediately preceding the concert Friday evening.