

MUSIC LEAGUE HAS BARGAIN IN MUSIC

Not every great musician is willing to appear upon the payment of his fee. The managers of Rachmaninoff, who opens the "Sunday Popular Series" November 9, were not in favor of having him play in Akron with the uniform price of tickets at 50 cents. Akron is the only place to hear this remarkable pianist and composer at this small admission.

The objects of the Music league were presented to the managers and they were convinced that the league is carrying on an educational program for the benefit of the public and were glad to send Mr. Rachmaninoff to assist.

"No person can afford to miss hearing this great master, particularly when he may be heard for 50 cents," said Earle G. Killen of the Music league.
