

The Music Calendar

Today at 3:30 the London String quartet, an organization which has been causing considerable critical excitement in New York this season, will make its first and only Chicago appearance of the year at the Blackstone. They will play Beethoven's quartet in E minor, Mozart's quartet in D minor, Gossens' two sketches "By the Tarn," "Jack o' Lantern," and a Folk Song quartet by H. Waldo Warner.

Today at 3:30 Sergei Rachmaninoff will appear in piano recital at the Auditorium under the direction of F. Wight Neumann. His program includes the Beethoven E minor sonata, Mendelssohn's six songs without words, and two Etudes—Tableaux (first time) of his own.

Tomorrow at 4 the...